THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver....His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name a recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it ing the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns of expression undreamed of forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly

Two Studentships of One Hundred Guineas per annum each, tenable for three years, shall in each year be given to the Students who shall pass the best Examination on the whole in all the subjects mentioned in Clause 28 of the Consolidated Regulations. But the Council shall not be obliged to recommend any Studentship to be awarded if the result of the Examination be such as, in their opinion, not to justify such recommendation. Where any Candidates appear to be equal or nearly equal in merit, the Council may, if they think fit, divide the Studentship between them equally or in such proportions as they consider just.

No Student shall be eligible for a Studentship who is over twenty-five years of age on the first day of the Examination for which he enters.

Only members of an Inn not called to the Bar shall compete for a Studentship.

At every call to the Bar those Students who have obtained Studentships shall take rank in seniority over all other Students called on the same day, and those Students who have obtained Certificates of Honour shall take rank immediately after the holder of a Studentship called on the same day.

The Inn of Court, to which the holder of any Studentship or of a Certificate of Honour belongs, may, if desired, dispense with any Terms, not exceeding two, that may remain to be kept by such Student previously to his being called to the Bar.

The Council may also award to the Student, being a Candidate for a Studentship or Honours, who shall have passed the best Examination in Constitutional Law, English, Colonial and Legal History, a special prize of Fifty Pounds. Provided that the Council shall not be obliged to award such prize if the result of the Examination has not been such as in their opinion will justify the same.

An Examination will be held in July next, to which a Student of any of the Inns of Court, who is desirous of becoming a Candidate for a Studentship or Honours, or of obtaining a Certificate of Fitness for being called to the Bar, will be admissible.

Each Student proposing to submit himself for Examination will be required to enter his name, in full, personally or by letter, at the Treasurer's or Steward's Office of the Inn of Court to which he belongs, on or before the 1st day of July next, and he will further be required to state in writing whether his object in offering himself for Examination is to compete for a Studentship or Honours, or to obtain a Certificate preliminary to a call to the Bar.

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver.... His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf —the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name anothe recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mint of camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns φωναντα συνετοισιν undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review

EMDEN'S PRACTICE AND FORMS IN WINDING-UP COMPANIES

A Concise and Practical Treatise upon the Law and Practice relating to the Winding-up of Companies from the commencement of the Winding-up Proceedings to Dissolution, with a Chapter on Reconstruction.

BY

ALFRED EMDEN,

OF THE INNER TEMPLE, ESQ., BARRISTER-AT-LAW; AUTHOR OF "THE LAW RELATING TO BUILDING, BUILDING LEASES, AND BUILDING CONTRACTS," "A COMPLETE COLLECTION OF PRACTICE STATUTES, ORDERS, AND RULES," "SHAREHOLDER'S LEGAL GUIDE," ETC.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.—PREVIOUS EDITIONS.

"The authorities are brought down to date, and the whole work is thoroughly well done. . . . . We have rarely met with a work in which so much pains have been taken not only to set forth the whole of the law and practice to which it relates, but to do so in the most lucid and concise manner. The book will be of great assistance to all who are concerned in the Winding-up of Companies, particularly to those who are comparatively new to the work. If the practitioner goes wrong with Mr. Emden's book in his hand it will be his own fault."—Law Times.

"We think the arrangement of this book is very good. Each step in winding-up proceedings is traced. . . . . The statutes are printed at length in the appendix. . . . . There is a very good time table, and also a convenient tabulated summary of the leading cases upon the liability of contributories. . . . . The work is brought complete to date. With regard to the treatment of the very numerous with which company law abounds, it is always intelligent, and style is easy and perspicuous."—Law Journal.

"Mr. Emden is already well known as a legal author, and his on the winding-up of companies will, we think, increase his repu This treatise is judiciously confined to the important bran company law which relates to 'winding-up'; and the auth thereby enabled, within the compass of a moderate volume, to g the practitioner with a very complete work. In arrangement, lit left to be desired; and, by variations of type and marginal refer the eye is assisted in its search for any particular subject. The ap dix of forms cannot fail to be practically useful."—Solicitors' Jour

INCORPORATED COUNCIL OF LAW REPORTING FOR ENGLAND AND WALES.

RETIREMENT OF JOSEPH BROWN, ESQ., Q.C., FROM THE OFFICE OF CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL.

THE Annual Meeting of the Council was held at the Benchers' Reading Room, Lincoln's Inn Hall, on the 14th instant, at which there were present Mr. JOSEPH BROWN, Q.C., as Chairman, the Attorney-General, M.P. (Sir RICHARD E. WEBSTER), Sir HORACE DAVEY, Q.C., M.P., Mr. J. A. RUSSELL, Q.C., Mr. F. MEADOWS WHITE, Q.C., Mr. JOHN RIGBY, Q.C., Mr. LUMLEY SMITH, Q.C., Mr. F. A. PHILBRICK, Q.C., Mr. WM. WILLIAMS, and Mr. JOHN HOLLAMS, when, after some preliminary business, Mr. JOSEPH BROWN formally announced his intention of retiring from the office of Chairman of the Council—a post that he had held for nearly seventeen years. The announcement was received with considerable regret, and the feeling of respect and regard shewn to him was evinced by the following speeches which were made on the occasion.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL:—Gentlemen, I feel that we ought to make some slight reference to the announcement that has just been made by our old friend Mr. Brown—that he feels he can no longer fulfil the duties which he has performed for so many years with such admirable efficiency and such enduring devotion to this Council in the position of its Chairman. Standing here as a member of his Circuit and at a table at which there are no less than three other members of his Circuit, I feel we ought not to let this opportuity pass by without placing on record as the Council and as individual members of the Council our appreciation of the work Mr. Brown has done for us. It may be not unfitting to make a few brief observations reminding the Council of the position in which we now stand. When I first joined the Bar, and when I suppose every one who is now hearing me joined the Profession, the cost of reports to any one who desired to possess them was something between £30 and £40 a year, and, except the Law Journal and the Law Times, there was no series of reports which at anything like a moderate figure would give to any one desiring to practise his profession a set of the current reports of the year upon which he could rely or to which he could make reference. During the life of the LAW REPORTS, as the members of the Council know perfectly well, the success of the Council has proceeded so rapidly that at the present time we have between 5000 and 6000 subscribers, and I have no doubt that number does not by any means represent the limit of the numbers who will ultimately become subscribers to our series. But, Gentlemen, I do not wish to-day to occupy your time by simply repeating to you what you all know with regard to the history of these Reports; but I should like to be permitted to make one or two references to what I may be allowed to call the personal services of Mr. Brown, and the way in which he has for nearly seventeen years acted as Chairman, and to the circumstance that during the lengthened period of his connection with the Council he has, gratuitously and without the slightest remuneration, placed at the disposal of this Council, energy, industry, time, and devotion, which I think I may fairly say could not possibly have been surpassed by anybody who had undertaken the duties he had to perform. Succeeding very distinguished men in the late Sir FitzRoy Kelly and the present Lord Selborne, and Mr. Greene, Mr. Brown saw that not only was it necessary to be a lawyer, not only was it necessary to be devoted to his Profession, not only was it necessary to understand what was required of successful law reporting, but that there was the commercial side of this question, to which attention ought at least almost as much to be directed; and those who have followed the work of the Council during the last sixteen years will, I am sure, agree with me that I am not exaggerating when I say that the economies which have been effected by the action of the Council, without any sacrifice of efficiency, have been due largely to the intimate knowledge which was acquired by the Chairman of the details and the technicalities of the printing and publishing business. The saving in the matter of the cost of paper, and the saving in the expense of the cost of production, without, I say, any sacrifice of efficiency, could not have been achieved had not there been found some one disinterested enough to devote his time to mastering these technicalities and placing the results of his knowledge and his research at the disposal of the Council. I may be permitted also to point out that no single interest which has been entrusted to Mr. Brown's supervision or charge has been neglected. Speaking of the subscribers in the first instance, for whom principally it may be said this Society exists, not only the number of the Reports, but the other publications, such as the Digest, the Statutes, the Chronological Index of the Statutes, and the temporary Indices from time to time issued, have given the subscribers far more than they ever had a right to receive for their original subscription, or than the founders of this Council thought it should be able to give them for anything like the sum of money that is now charged. I feel it is a pleasant incident that you have on this table in front of the Chairman the first copy of that great Digest to which he has devoted so much interest and attention, and which forms a complete summary of the decided cases from the year 1865 down to the year 1890. Then, if I turn for a moment to the reporters, their interests have not been overlooked. I am sure, if you were to speak to all of them, as I have spoken to some of them, they would all of them agree unanimously that the amounts that they are receiving, and the way they have been treated by the Council, have not only entitled the Council to their gratitude, but have indicated that consideration of the interests of the reporters has also engaged the attention of Mr. Brown, and through him of other members of the Council, in dealing with this matter. There are other matters that have occurred in the course of Mr. Brown's Chairmanship which are worthy of notice. He alluded a few minutes ago to the funds we have invested. I cannot help reminding you that the main reserve fund of £20,000 was augmented from £900 to that sum at his suggestion and on his recommendation, and the other matter to which he referred—the change of the subscription from five guineas to four guineas—was determined upon by the Council after there had been a most careful and exhaustive investigation by Mr. Brown of what the commercial effect would be; and I may be permitted to say that his calculations and predictions are not like the calculations and predictions of many other prophets of whom we have read, but they have turned out to be strictly true, and have been fulfilled to the very letter. There is another small change, which may be said to be a complete work also, not wholly due, but largely due to the interest taken by Mr. Brown, and that is in the mode of citation. Two years ago we determined upon the adoption, and seventeen months ago we adopted a mode of citation which is unique in this respect, that it never need be altered, and it has a distinct advantage to the purchasers of our series, and is likely to bring to us more subscribers, because the set of Reports, in whatever year it commences, will be in itself complete, because it will be a set of Reports from the year 1891 down to the year 1902 or 1906, whatever it may be, and will not be Vol. 22 or Vol. 26; and I know from communication with booksellers that it will be an advantage to the owners of the Reports as a property, because everybody knows that an imperfect set of that character, however old it may be, never commands the same price as a complete set. I have mentioned these matters because I felt that I was justified in detaining you for a few minutes in noticing in this brief and plain way what has been the effect of Mr. Brown's work, what have been the objects to which he has devoted his attention, and how far those objects have been accompanied by success. I may be permitted before I sit down to refer again to the personal aspect of our connection with our Chairman. I speak as one to whom as a young man he shewed much kindness, and as a member of his Circuit—a Circuit on which the name of "Joe Brown" was always respected. We have met him from day to day, and week to week, and month to month, and have consulted him. Reporters, secretary, editors, members of the Council, have from time to time consulted him; and I am sure one and all will say, that the kindness and courtesy with which he has listened to us, received us, and given us the advantage and value of his experience, could not have been exceeded. Many of us feel that such services as these might be publicly rewarded—unfortunately we have not the right of awarding public rewards. I think I may say, and I do not hesitate to say, that such work is more worthy of public notice than many of the so-called services which do receive rewards of various kinds from time to time. But, Sir, I assure you, and I know every member of the Council here present, and those absent too, will agree with me, that I am only expressing to you the thanks of your brethren on the Council, the thanks of the Profession, and the thanks of every one who has been brought into contact with you in connection with your Chairmanship, when we record our sense of the devotion to your Profession, of your disinterested self-sacrifice in the amount of time which you have given to your work, and our certainty that your labours are appreciated by the Profession, and that every member of the Profession is grateful to you for having been good enough to bestow so much time in their interests, and we wish that we had some more tangible means of shewing you how much we appreciate your services. We know, as I said at the beginning of my observations, that you brought to this work ripened experience and a judgment of many years. We have only to look back upon your career at the Bar to know of what value to the Council was your experience and your deep and [illegible] established knowledge of Law; and, Sir, I say whoever may be chosen in years to come—and there will be distinguished men chosen, I am sure, to fill your place—they will feel that the best way in which they can fulfil their duties and perform the services which are imposed upon them, the best manner in which they can discharge, in the interests of their Profession and the interests of legal learning, the functions which for part of the duties of the Chairman of the Council, will be endeavouring to emulate the way in which you have discharged those duties, and performed them to the satisfaction of one. I wish it had fallen to some one of more eloquence to express our feelings to you; but I am sure nobody could have been chosen who feels more deeply and more genuinely than individual who now is bidding you farewell the debt of gratitude which not only every member of the Council, but every member of the Profession owes to you. The only duty I have to perform is to move this resolution: "That this Council do to express their regret at the loss sustained by the Council the retirement of Joseph Brown, Esq., Q.C., who for seventeen years has acted as their Chairman, and by his ability, and practical experience aided the Council in deliberations, and greatly contributed to the success prosperity of the LAW REPORTS, and the Council desire to him their hearty thanks for his eminent services, and for courtesy and kindness which have for years actuated him in fulfilment of the duties of his office."

SIR HORACE DAVEY:—Mr. Brown and Gentlemen, I may well be content to rest silent and to leave the motion which Attorney-General has proposed to the support of the eloquent words in which he has proposed it; but, Sir, I cannot refrain from rising to second this motion, and, in seconding it, express in a few words at once that sense of gratitude which am sure we and all the members of the Profession ought towards Mr. Brown for his services in the past, and to him long life and happiness for the future. Now, Gentlemen, has been my happiness and my privilege to be a member this Council for now nearly eleven years, with a short interval and during the whole of that time the members of this Council have been in the habit of relying upon and leaning, if I use that expression, upon the experience and guidance of Chairman, Mr. Brown, and I will take the liberty to say whatever demands were made upon Mr. Brown's time or his abilities or experience, they were always met. During whole of the time that I have been a member of this Council Mr. Brown has always been ready to assist the Council; more than ready—he has been delighted to assist the Council the result of not only his knowledge of the Law, not only knowledge of business, but also of the intimate acquaintance which he found it his duty to acquire—which he did acquire with so much success—of the details of the printing and publishing business; and the knowledge that Mr. Brown acquired these particulars has—I am sure I am expressing the opinion of every member of the Council—been of incalculable value to this Council. It has enabled us to economise the funds of which we are the custodians and the administrators; and Mr. Brown's advice and knowledge have enabled us to form a just opinion on many matters on which we needed such guidance. Gentlemen, it is not too much to say that during the seven s Mr. Brown has been Chairman of the Council—at least, peak of that portion of the period during which I have a member—we have been in the habit of looking up to and we have been in the habit of accepting his advice, heartily thanking him for giving it. But, in saying that, ust not be supposed that Mr. Brown has arrogated to elf any position other than that which he was entitled sume as Chairman of this Council. One of the distinning features of Mr. Brown's Chairmanship (I speak from wn experience) has been, that whenever any member of Council found it his duty to differ from Mr. Brown's view any subject, he has always received the most patient, eous, and attentive consideration from the Chairman; never knew any case in which, if a majority of the members Council found themselves at variance with the Chairman, d not at once accept the position, and endeavour to carry loyally and as fully the views expressed at the Council they had in the first instance received his individual ap-. Now, Gentlemen, I have only now to express the thanks which the members of this Council owe to Mr. for his guidance and assistance in the past. I am sure that whoever may be selected to succeed Mr. Brown Chair, the Council will feel it a distinct loss that they no longer Mr. Brown sitting in the Chair which he still ies, and it will entail, I am afraid, upon all of us who the meetings of this Council some extra exertion and ance upon our duties. In point of fact, Mr. Brown has spoilt us, because we knew from past experience that uld always look to him for information and guidance any subject which came before us. But, Sir, it is not the members of this Council that are indebted to Mr. In my opinion, the members of the Profession and the at large owe him a deep debt of gratitude. It is only who sit at this Council board who know what a debt of de the Profession and the public owe to Mr. Brown. The l public owe it on whose behalf and for whose benefit een the labours upon which Mr. Brown has expended so time and trouble. They have been for the purpose of ing the LAW REPORTS for the benefit of the Profession, herefore for the benefit of the public. It is fitting, hope that the public will know and will recognise deep debt of gratitude, first, the members of the Profesnd, secondly, the general public, owe to Mr. Brown for rvices upon this Council. I know that we have been d to criticisms. It would be idle to pretend that our of Reports has reached perfection; but I do say this—that ave not hitherto reached perfection it has not been the the Chairman, and no one could have brought to the which Mr. Brown addressed himself greater ability, zeal, and greater industry. I only hope that in leaving air you, Sir, will understand and recognise that you carry ou the best wishes and the cordial thanks of your col- for your past conduct in the Chair, and their heartiest st wishes that you may long live to enjoy the rest and ent to which you are so fully entitled.

motion was put, and carried unanimously.

JOSEPH BROWN:—Mr. Attorney-General and Gentlemen, ot help being more moved than I could have expected at as passed this afternoon. I feel infinitely indebted to torney-General and Sir Horace Davey for the very kind indeed in which they have proposed this motion; and I ally indebted to the members of the Council for the manner in which they have received it. At the same time, I cannot possibly take credit to myself for all that the Attorney-General in his generosity, which is well known, has attributed to me. It is true I have worked a good deal for the Council, and I have done some hard work for them, but we have all worked together harmoniously, and that, notwithstanding we have had under consideration some hard and troublesome questions—financial questions, and other questions of great importance—which have come before us. If we had not all worked harmoniously, and with genuine desire to be of service to the members of our Profession, we could not have accomplished what we have done. When Mr. Attorney-General was giving me all the credit of what has been accomplished, I could not help thinking of my poor old friend Serjeant Pulling, who worked, I know, very hard for years on this Council, and who is unfortunately disabled by infirmities, perhaps attendant upon his time of life, from attending here to-day; and I recollect the strenuous efforts he made in order to put the Profession in possession of what we ultimately gave them gratis at considerable cost to the Council funds—I mean the Chronological Index to the Statutes, which I verily believe, from what I have learnt from the members of the Profession, has been extremely useful. The Serjeant is an older member of the Council than myself, for I did not join the Council until some years after it was first established; but the Serjeant was a member almost from its commencement. And there is another gentleman, whom I see at my right hand, who has been a member of the Council from the very first—I mean Mr. Williams—and he has been a most useful member. Within my knowledge, he scarcely ever missed a meeting which it was possible for him to attend, and his services, both in the way of practical recommendation and otherwise, in his inspection of the accounts and examination of the securities and so forth, and the advice he has given myself personally as well as other members, has been of the greatest value. I ought not to omit my learned friend Sir Horace Davey, who has been conspicuous, notwithstanding the multiplicity of his engagements, in his determination to attend every meeting he possibly could, and he has shewn a genuine interest in all our proceedings. I believe this, that although in our Profession we are in the habit of disputing difficult and knotty questions, when we have met here we have generally been unanimous. There has scarcely ever been any serious dispute between us; if there has been, we have given it every consideration, and sometimes successive considerations, and we have reason to congratulate ourselves that we have found our consultations commended by the results. I think the reward I have received to-day in the expressions of encomium by the Attorney-General and Sir Horace Davey ought to be sufficient for me. For my part, I am too old to care about reward coming from titles, or from pecuniary addition to what I have got; but I do feel very envious of the regard and esteem of my fellow-men, and especially of some of the most eminent men of the Profession at the present day, whom I have always looked up to with the greatest respect, and whose career, mounting from step to step far beyond what I was able to attain myself, has been to me a source of the truest admiration. I do say that I feel amply rewarded for all the labours I have done for the Profession if I have acquired this regard and esteem by my conduct in this Chair, in the efforts I have made to improve the LAW REPORTS. I ought not to omit to add in justice that all my efforts have been uniformly aided, seconded, and carried out in the most effectual way by our worthy secretary, Mr. Hopwood. If it had not been for Mr. Hopwood I should have been nowhere. He is acquainted with a thousand practical details of the Council that I do not know, and he and I have always consulted together, and I believe we have never had a serious difference from the commencement, although I have had the pleasure of being connected with him for seventeen years, and I feel that the Council are most materially indebted to him. It is one of the pleasures, I must say, of the office, that I have been able to propose that he should share with the reporters in the annual bonus. I must say, also, I feel a sincere satisfaction in reflecting on the fact that when I first joined the Council, nearly twenty years ago, we had not, as I find on looking at the Reports, more than £900 in reserve—that was the only sum we had; and afterwards I was fortunate enough to effect great economies and more advantageous contracts with our eminent printers and publishers, Messrs. Wm. Clowes & Sons, by which such large savings were effected, that, two years subsequently, we had £5000 in the reserve fund, and that has gradually gone on increasing, and we have now £20,000 in the reserve fund, besides a floating surplus of £11,000, irrespective of the book stock. It is a great gratification to me to reflect on that; but I must not arrogate to myself the credit of having saved to the Profession the very large sum of money which the Attorney-General says they have been spared by the operations of the Council. The case really is as the Attorney-General says: whoever took all the Reports had to pay £30 or £40 instead of the four guineas for which they can now get them; and those who only took the Reports of one side of Westminster Hall, as we called it, the Common Law Reports or the Chancery Reports, for what they now pay about four guineas, they used to pay £20. I have made a calculation which is within the mark, and which shews that this Council has saved the Profession not less, but more, than half a million of money in the twenty-five years it has been in existence, and that is taking the figures at the lowest. That has been a very great gratification to me, and I think a very legitimate one; and in addition to what they have been saving in money, we have given them various Digests, expensive to the Council, gratis, and we have given them the annual and quarterly Digests, gratis, without charging anything but the four guineas. To any working lawyer those are of great value. All that we have been fortunate enough to do—in which, I admit, it would be false modesty to say I did not take a very active part individually. I succeeded in persuading the Council—some of the members yielded with some difficulty—to reduce the subscription from five to four guineas, and I have been happy to see that completely successful; and now we have actually got with the four guineas subscription—the reduced subscription—a surplus income not quite so large as we had with the five guineas subscription, but amply large enough for all our purposes, and as much as we want. In addition to that, we have had the pleasure—and in this I must own that some of the other members of the Council were more forward than myself—of voting considerable bonuses to the reporters every year. I think Mr. Justice Wills was the first who induced me to yield to that suggestion. I was afraid of it myself for a long time, until we had a large surplus fund; and we have increased the bonus until it became 25 per cent. on the salaries, and that amounts to a very large sum of money if you add it up in all the years we have paid it. That, I think, is a legitimate source of satisfaction. I must say there is another point on which I feel a real satisfaction, and I am sure the Attorney-General and Sir Horace Davey and all the members of the Council will join in it, and it is this. We have had the very important office to fulfil of appointing new reporters, and on or twice getting rid of some older ones. I am certain, speaking for myself, that, so far as my votes were concerned, in those appointments I have always voted for the best men. I can say from the bottom of my conscience that I never voted for any man out of fear or favour; and in my situation I have had a great many solicitations from people of great influence, which I have been bound to resist. That is a true satisfaction to me and will be to my dying day; and I am sure, so far as I know the members of the Council, every one of them could say the same thing. I do think that is a very important part of our functions that we have performed to our own satisfaction; and it would afford the same satisfaction to the Profession if they knew the pressure we were sometimes put under to vote the other way. I think that I may take credit for having effected large economies for the Council, and I am glad to add that Messrs. Clowes have acted like men of business who had an interest in the success of the LAW REPORTS, and they have often shewn it. When I quit this chair I leave the Council still dealing with Messrs. Clowes under the last contract with them, and I hope, whenever it comes to the time to renew that contract, they will probably renew it with Messrs. Clowes. They are one of the largest firms in London, and if they had not had an immense staff and an immense stock of type, they could not have brought out this work which is contained in these three volumes in so short a period. Gentlemen, finally, I cannot, and I do not forget that the members of the Profession, and particularly what is usually considered the second branch of it, have been very generous to me in the course of my career, and it is only right, and fair and proper, that I should endeavour to do something for them, and I have tried to do it to the best of my ability. That is all the merit I claim. I was going to say one thing more, and it is just this—that I consider that the Council has been of very material service to the Profession in attending to all reasonable complaints that were made respecting the Reports, whether it was the omission to report certain cases or the insertion of cases that ought not to have been reported; they form a sort of tribunal to which any member of the Profession who thinks the Reports are not properly done can apply at any time and have his complaint attended to, and over and over again the Council have appointed sub-committees to go into those matters and examine them carefully before they dismiss them or attend to them. That does appear to me to be a very material benefit we have conferred on the Profession. That is a great satisfaction to me also, and I am sure it is to the rest of the Council. It only remains for me to say that I have come to that time of life when my weakness and my sometimes failing health require me to give up those arduous duties which I have hitherto performed. At the same time, I hope I shall not cease to keep up my personal acquaintance with the members of the Council, for whom I have much respect and esteem, and I trust I may be able during the next few years, at all events, although my eyesight has to a certain extent failed me, to afford them some assistance, especially to the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, in the performance of their duties. I close these observations, and my very best thanks to the Council I will conclude.

At this meeting Sir HORACE DAVEY, Q.C., M.P., was appointed Chairman on the retirement of Mr. BROWN, Q.C., and Mr. MEADOWS WHITE, Q.C., was elected Vice-Chairman.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1891.

e Council submit a Balance Sheet and Financial Statement, together with the following report of the results of the working of system for the year above mentioned.

The subscriptions received by the Council for the year 1891 amounted to the sum of 23,644*l.* 11*s.* 4*d.*, being an increase of 96*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.* as compared with the previous year. The sum received for the Law Reports published prior to 1891 amounted to sum of 828*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*, being a slight increase upon the year 1890, and the Council's share of the profits of advertisements ounted to the sum of 45*l.* The interest for money on Deposits and Investments together amounted to the sum of 56*l.* 5*s.* 2*d.*, making the total receipts for the whole year 25,684*l.* 12*s.*, as compared with the total of 24,375*l.* 6*s.* received in 0, which is an increase of 1,309*l.* 6*s.*

The printing, publishing, and delivery of the Reports, Statutes, Weekly Notes, Current Indices, and Indian Appeals ounted to the sum of 10,688*l.* 11*s.*; the office expenses, to 196*l.* 19*s.* 8*d*; and 1*l.* 16*s.* for Income Tax. The sum os 796*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.* was expended for salaries and other payments for reporting, and includes 175*l.* towards preparing the Great est, besides the usual bonus to the staff. The total expenditure for the year was 23,683*l.* 19*s.* 5*d.*, as compared with 90*l.* 14*s.* 10*d.* expended in 1890. It should be observed, however, that the largely increased expenditure of the year 1890 e from exceptional causes, partly from the payment of a considerable sum to the printers on account of the Great Digest now preparation, and partly from the heavy cost of the Index to the Statutes, which was distributed gratis amongst the scribers, as mentioned in the Report of last year.

The financial Results of the year 1891 have been very satisfactory, and exhibit not only an increase of above 1,300*l.* in the ual subscriptions, but a surplus of annual receipts amounting to 2,000*l.* above the ordinary annual expenditure. These ults are partly due to financial savings in the expense of printing and publishing, and partly to the absence of extraordinary enses in the year 1891, but more to a large accession of Subscribers, who availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by commencement of the New Series to commence subscribing.

The Council regret to have to announce that JOSEPH BROWN, Esq., Q.C., has felt himself obliged to resign the office of airman of the Council, which he has held since the year 1875, and this regret will be shared by the Profession generally, but Council are glad to be able to state that Mr. BROWN has kindly consented to remain on the Council. His services have been aluable, as he spared neither time nor labour in his endeavours in behalf of the Profession to promote the success of the w Reports, and for this purpose he mastered every detail relating to the important matters to be dealt with, and was enabled his practical knowledge to do good service, both in matters of economy and efficiency. It was upon his suggestion, and in iance upon calculations worked out by him, that the reduction of the subscription to the Law Reports from 5*l.* 5*s.*—the ount originally fixed by the Bar scheme—to 4*l.* 4*s.* was mainly decided upon. The Council are sorry that he can no ger preside over them, and they feel assured that he will carry into his retirement the respect and regard of the Profession h which he has been associated and identified for so many years.

SIR HORACE DAVEY, KNT., Q.C., M.P., has been selected to succeed Mr. BROWN in the office of Chairman, and Mr. F. MEADOWS ITE, Q.C., as been appointed Vice-Chairman to assist the Chairman.

The Digest for the years 1865 to 1890 inclusive is now completed, and will fill three octavo volumns of 4,000 to 5,000 pages, and will be in course of distribution amongst the Subscribers on the 25th instant. The work has been compiled by able and experienced members of the Bar, and edited by Mr. A. P. Stone, the Editor of the Law Reports, Q.B.D., and no expense or labour has been spared to render it a complete Digest of the whole of the Law Reports issued by the Council from their commencement in 1865 down to the end of the year 1890, and to introduce such improvements as experience had suggested to the Editor. The Council have freely expended a portion of the funds at their disposal in the compilation of this work, in order to offer it to their subscribers at a price less than half the prime cost, and the printers have worked day and night at additional expense in order to avoid any delay in its completion.

The Accounts have been duly audited as in former years.

In conclusion, it is desired by the Council to thank Her Majesty's Judges and the Profession generally for the facilities they so kindly render to the staff in the performance of their duties.

By Order,

(Signed) HORACE DAVEY,
Chairman.

LEADING CASES IN MODERN EQUIT

BY THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, LL.B.; London University, B.A.; late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerks and Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883; and Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Specially recommended as a text-book for 'The Final.'"—Solicitors' Journal, Jan. 21, 1888.

"Deserves high praise for the care and judgment evinced in its execution. Mr. Brett's index appears to be copious and complete."—Law Times.

"We have laid Mr. Brett's book down with none but favourable and pleasurable feelings at the excellent manner in which he has accomplished his task. It is of the very first importance both to the student and the practitioner to have the principles of Equity collected in a handy form, and this want Mr. Brett has supplied. The notes to the cases are admirable in manner and lucid in language; and no little pains seem to have been bestowed in the arrangement of the cases themselves."—Law Magazine.

"Must prove of immense value to the profession. Mr. Brett has done [illegible] power to help students and practitioners by as far as possible grouping together cases dealing with the same classes of subjects. Among the more important decided will be found cases relating to trusts and trustees, mortgages, partnership, relations between solicitors and clients, married women's property, and the [illegible] education of children. A good index adds considerably to the usefulness of the book."—Daily Chronicle.

"The manner in which most of the cases are stated is admirable, being clear and well expressed. As it is, we have no hesitation in saying that there is no book, or one so good, from which the student can learn the most important [illegible] of courts of equity during recent years."—The Jurist.
